Bugged, crush in game - confirmed. = Unplayable.... Oh yeah!!! Dirtbag! No, she don't know what she's missing!. The playtime shown is not accurate, because I left after 15 minutes to get a snack. That's how interesting this game was.

I don't mind that it's an old game and I don't mind the simple mechanics. But it was so utterly boring that I just clicked to finish the game, although I knew early on who the murderer was. But no, the game wants to torture you and makes you visit more places than necessary, just for playing time I guess.

I bought this game as part of a bundle and, honestly, it wasn't worth it. Too many things are common among the three games, making me think the developer milked three games out of one. With a playtime of about 40 minutes if you're slow (no skipping anything) for each game, I wouldn't recommend it.. It feels like a blend of Risk of Rain with elements of Spelunky, all wrapped up in a pixelated nightmare.

With some more gameplay tweaks and some difficulty balancing, this has every chance of being one of the best platformers out there.. I'm not usually into arcade-Super Breakout-kinds of games, but this is great. For some reason, I find enjoyment in this very similiar to the enjoyment I got out of Peggles, where there is some skill and is quite fun in a group. I find myself playing it in short bursts. What you see is what you get, with this one.

Pros:

- +The added manipulation of 'gravity' dynamics with the controller triggers adds an awesome new mechanic to an old-school game
- +Music is great
- +Lots of modes - I love seeing my Steam friends high scores - it gives me goals ;)
- +Cool different arenas (ie. circular, horizontal, vertical, bosses!)
- +Definitely skill makes a difference
- +Local co-op!

Cons:

- The simple arcade nature of this game puts hard limits on most likely how much time I will get out of it

There is a reason its 'overwhelmingly positive' on Steam. Totally worth it, especially on discount.. I enjoy this game a lot, but there's no one playing online!

The game seems to be not that good at the first look, but i really recommend it. :D And look at the prize: it is nothing. So go ahead and buy this game! QUICKLY!!! Well, after investing such a long time into playing this game, which in fact is my favorite game, I felt personally obligated to put credit where it is due. As of playing this game for over 1,500 hours now, I've truly experienced the many positive and negative sides to this game. Often enough when playing the game, I will quite often complain about things like desync, frame rate issues, lag, and the (certainly interesting) multiplayer experience. There are many things to complain about, however this IS a review and not a rant. I feel fine overlooking the game's issues because the things it has given to me has certainly been worth my time and money.

I'd call a game good when I've got more hours under my belt than money spent. Well, I've played this game 100 times more than the amount it costs, I love it. Now thy holy Fluppi393, bring us some big updates plox. I want that water ;-; I cant handle the violent camera shakes, the headbobbing makes me feel drunk, and the changes in quality vary on the map around. I can see potential if this game is truly worked on. Keep up the good work DEVS. but for now, this is a 3/10

Dream land for those who like visual novel type games with deep dialogue and amazing visual art.. Dad Goku is Stronk EVERYTHING.

Also, I LOVE Bardock's Theme btw . Brilliant text quest with intriguing plot, thrilling atmosphere, handy hint system and unlinear gameplay (with a bunch of endings). Must-have for every gamer who loves old-school text games.. Great game!! I like that you can switch characters in this game. Very good.. Great game!. This could have been a good mix of Sega Rally and Shox...runs flawlessly on ultra 60 fps, 40 cars... But in the end the game is bland and boring. It looks like FH3 offroad races, but with less detailed levels.

The gameplay? Pretty boring too, like a NFS with TCS and ABS. No grip sensation or physics whatsoever....arcade doesnt mean having a boring handling. Screamer 2, Burnout 3 did it right 15 years ago...

For its launch price...it's way too overpriced
Could have got better sales with a 25-30€ pricetag, which fits more.

And god this "festival/beach/electro/loud crowd/gEt rEp PoInTs BrO" cocktail makes me sick.
Seen too many of this.. This is absolutely terrible, Please stop Voting-up Garbage..... A really enjoyable loco and a joy to drive once you get the hang of the reverser/regulator ratio and to have the dampers open from the moment you start or steam generation will fall rapidly. It comes in both green and a black version with or without smoke deflectors which pretty much gives you four loco's to choose from.

Only real issues I had was the manual not being overly detailed which is not good for a loco in the "Pro" range and no examples or guides for the mounted discs or what their particular postion means. Despite the Auto fireman on TS itself the S15 comes with it's own manually activated Auto fireman which is not a problem but the manual states "Injectors require manual control". This is only partially true but the only one required to be operated manually is the sall injector while the rest is taken care of by the auto fireman.

For those who might use the S15 in scenario making may come across a issue when once the loco is set to be player driven a window will pop up regarding brake type. This will remain in place blocking any build options underneath it and it will not close . A fix to this will involve going into the scenario builder and wait for the window to pop up. Once this happen go and play the scenario and wait for the window again. Close it and go directly into the scenario builder again "Ctrl + E" and now it should be gone letting you continue you're work.

Overall I give it a thumbs up and a long awaited addition to Southern rollingstock.
